DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.

3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Shapiro et al. (Shapiro), U.S. Patent 6,255,551.

The Shapiro patent discloses the claimed electrokinetic method for groundwater protection, soil remediation and/or soil engineering which comprise applying an electric field between one or more pairs of iron rich sacrificial electrodes implanted within the soil, with the in situ precipitation of a stable iron-rich band (see col. 7, lines 4-55 and col. 8, lines 61-66). The reference discloses the claimed range voltage (see col. 8, lines 1-5). The patent teaches the same types of contaminants (see claim 9).

The patent does not disclose that the electrokinetic method generates an abrupt pH and Eh gradient as claimed. The gradients as claimed would have been inherently formed by the application of current between two electrodes placed within groundwater containing soils.

Accordingly, the claims stand anticipated. In the alternative, the claims are obvious over Shapiro because one having ordinary skill in the art would know that the application of current would form hydroxide ions at the cathode which would travel through the soil toward the anode and would deposit at sufficiently high pH.
